To Whom It May Concern:

I am writing this letter in support of Maricel Lawrence for your open position. I have known and been a colleague with Maricel during her tenure at Purdue University and find her to be a dedicated life-long learner and passionate innovator. As a life-long learner, Maricel is continuously enhancing her knowledge and skills through seeking out various professional development and collaborative learning opportunities. Additionally, Maricel is a passionate innovator who is skillful in finding gaps in current processes and procedures and then proposing innovative solutions for enhancement. Most importantly, the passion and energy she brings to each project is contagious and provides a great boost for all of those who collaborate with her.

Along with these qualities, Maricel has invaluable networking skills and she has exhibited this through her ability to connect people within very diverse academic and administrative units across Purdue. Amazingly, Maricel is able to bring these people together and lead them to achieve both existing university goals and new initiatives through Purdue's Digital Education.

Possessing these varying skill-sets, allows Maricel the capability to adapt and be successful in diverse professional settings. Maricel's professional experiences coupled with her passion for doing the best job possible provide her with a unique combination of knowledge and skills that make her an outstanding candidate for your open position. For these reasons, I highly recommend Maricel Lawrence for this position. If I can provide any further detailed information about Maricel, please don't hesitate to contact me.

Sincerely,

Chad Mueller
